First playoff in half century

Granada chases north coast title tonight

PLEASANT HILL — This is it, the night they play for the ranch and all the marbles, and when it's over, one side will bring home the bacon.

The tough will get going when it gets tough. The not so tough will steal away in the night to whimper and lick their wounds.

Granada High School is playing Pinole Valley High for the North Coast Section's Four A football championship. Kickoff is 8 p.m. at Diablo Valley College.

It is only a semi-historic occasion, because they used to stage these playoffs back in the 1920's, when Berkeley High dominated football the way Al Capone lorded it over every other bootlegger.

But this is the first North Coast championship in 45 years. In those four and a half decades, the section has sprawled from Fremont to the Oregon border. Tonight's winner will be touted from Union City to Fortuna.

It is the Big Game, despite what those 80,000-plus in Palo Alto thought last Saturday.

To get here, Granada posted a 9-1 record, won its first ever EBAI championship, and last Friday defeated Mission San Jose, 35-21, in the North Coast Southern Region playoff. The Matadors are third-ranked in the East Bay.

Pinole is 11-0 and rated number one in the East Bay. The Spartans won the Alameda County Athletic League's large school championship, and whipped Clayton Valley, 10-7 in the Northern Region playoff a week ago.

If there's a favorite in this game, you find it. True, Pinole is undefeated and on top of the polls. But the upstart Matadors crushed previously undefeated and top-ranked Mission in a manner no one could foresee. They have won nine games in a row and restored honor to the EBAI, denigrated because it fared poorly in intersectional games early this season.

The same folks who feared for Granada a week ago, wonder now if it might just not be the best team in Northern California. The Matadors wonder if there's a better team in the state.

Adding a note of caution, however, is Granada's coach, Don Couch. In just two years at the school, he has posted a 15-4 record and earned more honor for the Matadors than in their previous nine seasons combined.

He is not being swept up in the euphoria of last week's resounding triumph, however. His job is to fret over tonight's opponent.

"We matched up well with Mission San Jose," Couch says. "They were good in departments where we also have been good. They ran the ball well, but we've had success at stopping the run all year."

"But Pinole is a good passing team, and that's been our weak point. It's not that we don't work on pass defense. We spend 45 minutes or an hour on it every day of practice. We just don't have the great people back there."

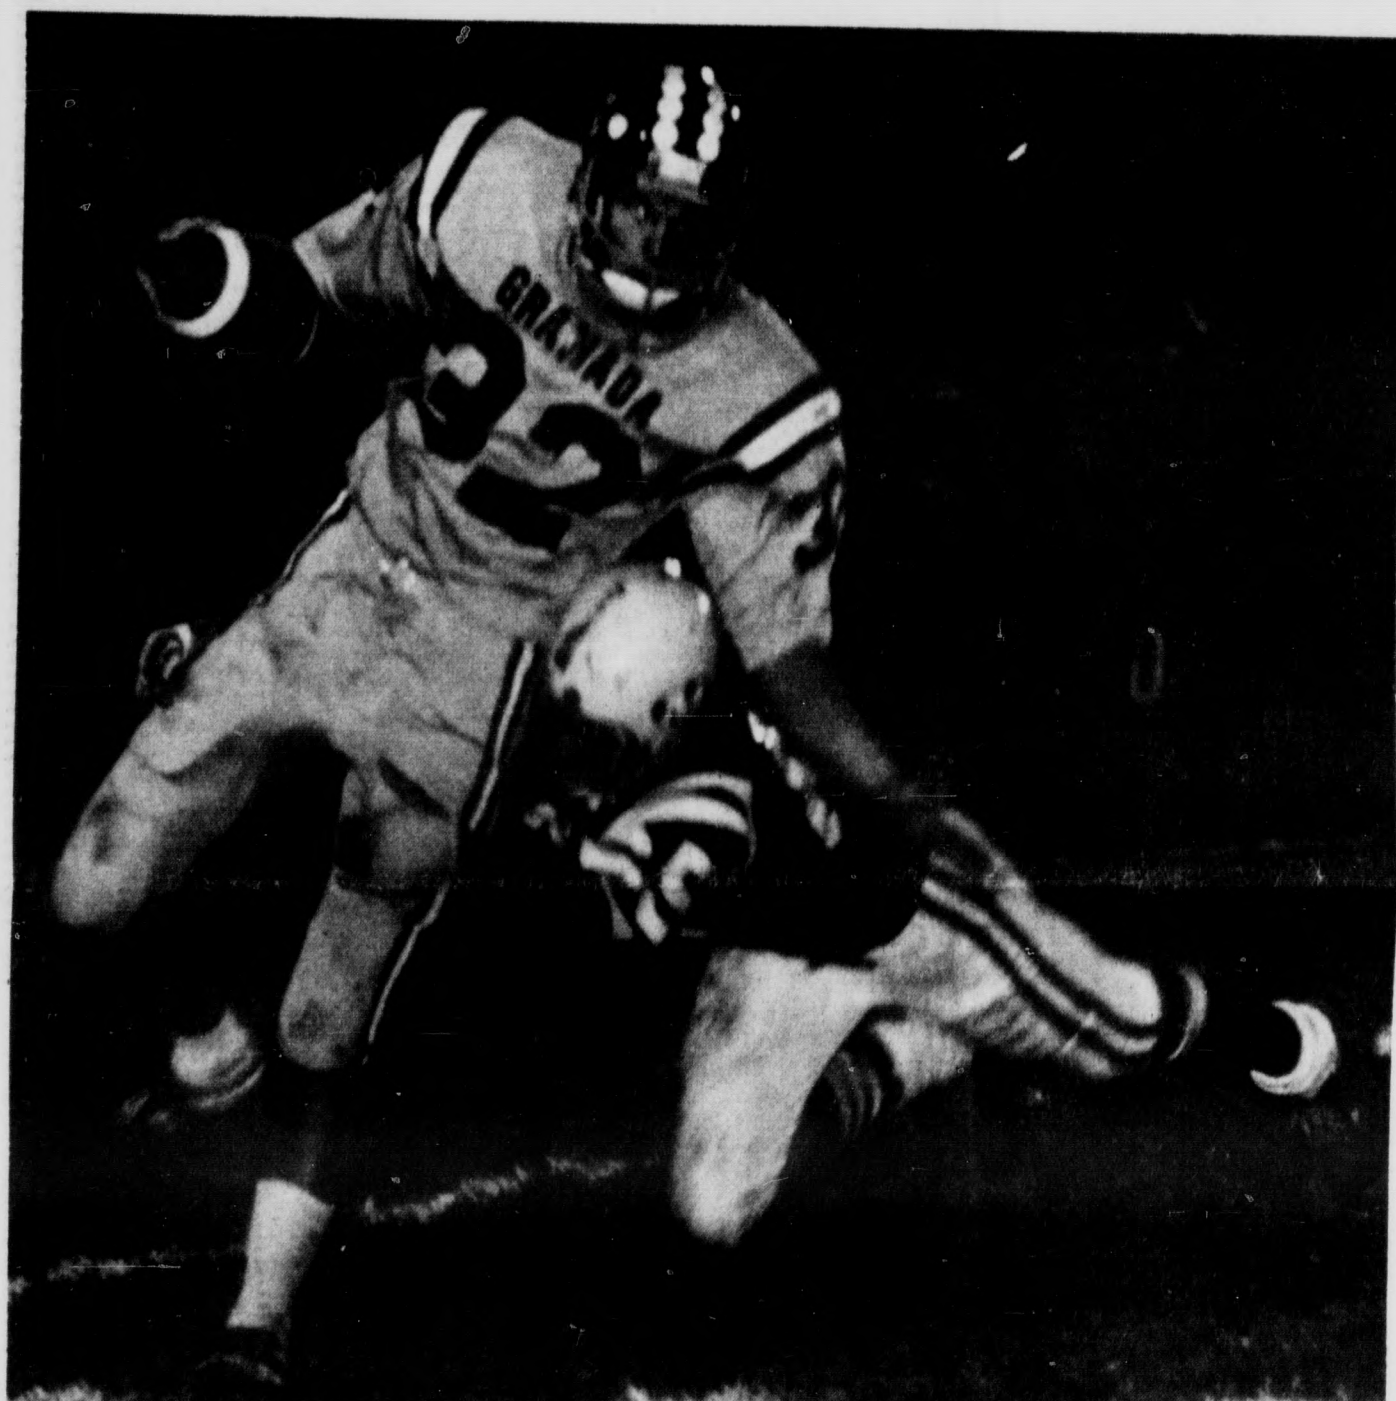

Pinole has 6-2, 185 quarterback Mark Dent, and 6-2, 190 wide receiver Mark Noonan to key the passing attack. Granada's secondary will include safeties Steve Robison and Rick Malia, and cornerbacks Doug Miller and Steve Jaeger.

Jaeger, of course, is Granada's All-EBAI running back, the youngster who will surpass 1,000 yards rushing in tonight's game. "I hate to use Jaeger on defense," Couch says; "but I'd rather have him a little bit tired on offense, than to have them hit a long pass over us."

To combat Pinole's passing threat, Granada will occasionally employ what it calls, Coverage One. The Matadors will rush all five linemen, and stunt linebackers Larry Burke and Tim Duke. That leaves the four defensive backs to handle all of Pinole's receivers.

City contributes $1,500

Ambulance pay boost ok'd

PLEASANTON — The city council unanimously approved an increase in the city's contribution to the valley-wide ambulance service agreement late Monday.

The council increased the monthly subsidy from $1,173 to $1,596 and allowed the ambulance company to increase its pick-up rate from $50 to $55 and its mileage rate from $2 to $2.50 per mile. The council also agreed to pay Pleasanton's share of a three year accumulated deficit of $10,763 to the ambulance company. The council amended the budget to obtain the necessary funds from unallocated reserves.

Councilman Robert Philcox asked the staff why the valley-wide ambulance service costs are split equally among the valley's three primary governmental jurisdictions. He thought the contributions should be based on frequency of accidents per capita or some other per capita yardstick which measures use among the communities.

City Manager Bill Edgar replied that the staff is now looking into that very idea. It was attempted in 1972 when the agreement was signed, but there was insufficient data at the time to follow through on the idea.

On another item, council members agreed with a staff recommendation that city dump rates remain at 65 cents minimum, $1.25 per cubic yard. The staff had reviewed the rate structure at the direction of the council. A substantial increase in dump rates might discourage use of the dump, according to City Manager Bill Edgar.

Council members also approved a change in the quorum of the Community Concerns Committee from five to three members. The committee originally had nine members, but recently membership fell to five. The council has not appointed replacements for those who resigned because no decision has been made on a proposed restructuring of the CCC.

A staff proposal to guarantee at least five more years use of the facilities at Youth Sports Park was granted to the Pleasanton National and American Little League organizations. The Little League field will be relocated only when the city provides the group with new permanent facilities, according to the council resolution.

The council authorized the staff to call for bids on improvement of the Hansen Park tot lot and picnic area. The proposal calls for construction of a play area, walkways, picnic areas, irrigation system and turf. The city will buy picnic tables, barbecues, play equipment and trees which will be installed by city crews and volunteer groups. Construction is expected to begin late in January and be completed soon after the beginning of March.

On another item, the council authorized purchase of three compact sedans amounting to $9,416 to Codiroli Ford and five trucks totaling $19,683 to Crown Chevrolet, the low bidders for the contracts.

just maybe, Pleasanton would have to let him in.

They are checking with higher legal authority in Sacramento to get a further ruling. Meanwhile, city hall is waiting, nervously.

"We don't even include palmistry or any of those other practices in our zoning ordinance," a planning department spokesman pointed out.

When the question first came up, way back in 1966, it created a terrible fuss up and down Main Street. Visions of "fortune tellers on every corner" were seen by worried merchants and townsfolk. Ten years later, the crisis over "clairaudience" and "crystal gazing" is back.

nance notes that "it shall be unlawful" to conduct any practice ranging from "astrology" to "prenology" and including "fortune telling" and "mediumship" for "fees, salary or other compensation."

So what's the ruling if some one sets up a clairvoyant shop "without fee or compensation." That's the question the Los Angeles man is asking.

City Attorney Kenneth Scheidig has advised the planning department, informally, that "if the applicant were to conduct palmistry in conjunction with some other approved business, but not charge a fee" then maybe,

A palmistry ploy in Pleasanton?

You're aware of the massage parlor flap in Fremont. And you can certainly recall the topless waitress lament in Livermore.

But how about the great palmistry pitch in Pleasanton?

City officials, and a worried downtown populace, thought they had dispensed with that item back in 1966, when they adopted an ordinance "Prohibiting Palmistry and Related Practices" within the City of Pleasanton.

But there's a loophole, it seems, and an enterprising gent from Los Angeles may be prepared to sneak through. Section 2 of that 1966 ordi-

Speaker space controversy

CSEA drafts Rad Lab suit

LIVERMORE — The California State Employees' Association is finalizing plans to file a suit against the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory to have the LLL auditorium made available to outside speakers, CSEA communications officer Keith Hearn said recently.

The laboratory's "time, place, and manner" regulation specifically denies employee meetings with outside speakers not sponsored by the laboratory in controlled areas.

The LLL auditorium is located in a controlled area.

LLL does permit employee organizations to use designated rooms in the personnel building and two cafeterias outside the classified area of the lab.

CSEA charges such accommodations are unsuited to employee needs, since none of the designated areas can accommodate the 390 people the auditorium seats, and the cafeterias are not available during the noon lunch hour.

Dr. James Carothers, Associate Director for Human Resources and Laboratory Relations, said Wednesday the issue is not whether space is provided, but whether CSEA likes the facilities which are available.

Carothers explained outside speakers could not be permitted inside security areas, for example in the auditorium, because the cost of providing escorts for non-cleared visitors would be excessive. He said the auditorium would have to be checked for security leaks, such as bugging devices, each time outsiders use the auditorium.

"Another complicating feature," said Carothers, "is the position of University of California counsel. While it might be possible for us to escort and provide security for one group, CSEA for example, by law we would have to make the auditorium available to all employee groups. It's either open to all or to none."

State Assemblyman Floyd Mori was denied permission to speak to lab employees in the laboratory auditorium earlier this fall.

Hearn said CSEA is currently writing up the suit, which will be filed "in the near future." He said CSEA had "exhausted all administrative remedies — we filed petitions, 'meet and confer' procedures — and believe there is no other alternative but to file the suit."

CSEA official Dave Hoffman said, "What we want is for lab directors to make the place completely open, to allow public distribution of leaflets, and allow literature to be posted on bulletin boards."

Carothers said representatives of any employee organizations, as long as they are lab employees, may pass out literature and leaflets inside controlled areas. "They can stand in a security area and make a speech, if they want to. They can also post information on the bulletin boards."

Representatives of employee groups who are not lab employees cannot come into a cleared area for any reason without clearance.

Carothers confirmed University of California regulations applying to LLL which state "employee organizations shall not be permitted the use of University mail service."

Organizations may send literature through U.S. mail, Carothers noted.

"The use of the auditorium really isn't a free speech issue," said Carothers, noting the lab does provide a place for outside speakers to address lab employees. "If the laboratory weren't in existence, I doubt the issue would have arisen, since the cafeterias would be the only available meeting place," he said.

Carothers said LLL director Roger Batzel could authorize a change in the time, place, and manner regulations, but noted it was unlikely Batzel would do so at this time.

Better ride to BART?

Bay Area Rapid Transit planner Ray Ceder appeared in Pleasanton and Livermore parking lots yesterday to tout the virtues of BART/AC Transit's new feeder buses.

Ceder and a small entourage from AC Transit showed off the new air-conditioned buses to public and officials at the local city halls. The new buses will be put in service beginning next month and gradually replace the old surplus buses which now comprise the BART/AC Transit suburban fleet.

The buses feature wall-to-wall carpeting, air conditioning, recliner seats, large vista windows and a cloth and vinyl interior which resembles a cross-country bus. The vehicle can carry 45 passengers and has roomier leg room than standard models which seat six more passengers.

AC Transit bought 36 of the new buses at $71,108 each, a total cost of $3.26 million. Eighty percent of the funds came from a federal Urban Mass Transportation Administration grant, the rest from Transit Development Act funding allocated by the Metropolitan Transportation Commission.

Small explosion shakes Pestana Way Tuesday

LIVERMORE — Two juveniles are being sought by police for questioning in the detonation of a small explosive device in the 3800 block of Pestana Way Tuesday.

Police said witnesses heard a loud explosion and saw two young boys riding away from the scene on bicycles.

Helen Marie Little and her daughter, Alyson Lynn Ryberg, were in the kitchen of their home on Pestana when they heard a loud explosion. They ran to the front of the house and saw two boys, about 16-years-old, approximately 5'7" and wearing dark clothing riding away from the scene on bicycles.

Ryberg spotted a small fire in the gutter apparently caused by the explosion. A neighbor quickly extinguished the small blaze, police said.

Police are searching the neighborhood for sign of the two boys.

Man arrested for striking wife at 1079 Club

LIVERMORE — A Livermore man was arrested at the 1079 Club Tuesday afternoon for allegedly hitting his estranged wife across the face, police said yesterday. Mona Joy Fox told police she entered the First St. establishment and saw her husband, Charlie Lee Fox, sitting at the bar. Upon seeing her, Charlie allegedly walked over and threw her to the floor, she said.

She told police she ran to the restroom but Charlie followed her in and then slapped her across the face.

Fox was arrested on investigation of misdemeanor battery charges and held on $250 bail.

Early morning fire destroys hay-filled barn

LIVERMORE — Flames from a house fire on the Contra Costa County border were whipped by winds across to a hay-filled barn in Alameda County on Collier Canyon Road early Wednesday causing total destruction of the barn, an Alameda County Fire Dept. spokesman said yesterday. County Fire Dept. units responded to the barnfire at 7066 Collier Canyon Road at about 1 a.m. Wednesday and had it extinguished in about an hour, the spokesman said.

Firefighters from the Tassajara Fire Protection District contained the blaze after it caused an undetermined amount of damage to a house in Contra Costa County.

Sheriff's Deputies are investigating for possible signs of arson, the County Fire Dept. spokesman said.

Sheriff's patrols to increase coverage

DUBLIN — The Sheriff's Dept. announced it will increase patrols during the Christmas shopping season in the Dublin area beginning immediately.

Sgt. Bill Ziegler said uniformed patrol officer foot beats, as well as marked and unmarked car patrols, would be increased in all shopping centers to protect against shoplifters. Ziegler said 22 arrests were made during last year's two and one-half week shopping period. He added that those arrests didn't include those given reprimands or released due to insufficient evidence.

Candidates must pay for statements

PLEASANTON — The city council voted unanimously Monday to take advantage of a new state law which allows cities to require candidates to pay for their own ballot statements.

The statements, limited to 200 words, are mailed by Alameda County with the sample ballots received by all registered voters. The new law also empowered the city council to increase the word limit to 400 words, but the council declined to expand the verbiage. Councilman Robert Philcox quipped: "I had a hard time getting 200."

The new law also permits the city council to allow candidates to add their campaign literature to the sample ballot information. However, if that is done, the cheaper centralized mailing of the sample ballots by Alameda County is not permitted, so council members rejected the idea.

Council members learned that the Secretary of State will draw letters in a random order January 5 to determine the alphabetical ballot order for the candidates in the city election March 3. City Attorney Ken Scheidig also said that the sample ballots will be printed in English and Spanish. Pleasanton has a small population of Spanish-surnamed people, but Alameda County has more than five percent Spanish-surnamed persons, the minimum percentage required to print a multi-lingual ballot in California.

Committee views airport errors

LIVERMORE — A host of errors in the Livermore Municipal Airport Master Plan and Land Use Study were hashed out in a two-hour study session by the airport advisory committee Tuesday and the document is expected to be adopted next week.

A provision to update yearly the 20-year plan's financial projections and priorities will be included with the adoption to mollify committee members' concerns over assumptions they view as incorrect.

The vote, however, may not be unanimous — it appears questionable whether Bill Zagotta's fears about the document have all been calmed.

Although Zagotta may be the lone dissenter when it comes to adoption, he was joined by other committee members and regular meeting attendees Tuesday in criticisms of the plan's financial analysis. That part of the plan was prepared by John Costas of August Compton & Associates, the airport's consultant.

Cited as inaccurate in Costas' detailed five-year (1975 through 1980) cash flow analysis were:

- The high profits to be realized from agricultural production on "clear zone" and future expansion lands to be acquired by the airport.

The figures mistake gross revenues for net revenues and do not take into account increased cultivation costs for the additional lands, noted Zagotta.

- The money yielded per acre for agricultural uses are unrealistically high, according to both Zagotta and Bob Lockhart, past president of the Livermore Valley Airmen's Association and devoted committee follower.

Both men also pointed out Costas assumed the acquired land would be irrigated, which it is not. According to Public Works Director Dan Lee's estimate, it costs $600 an acre to install an irrigation system. (This figure may be substantially less and federal and state assistance may be available, he added.)

- The purchase prices for land to be acquired are estimated too low, according to Lockhart and committeeman John Kerekes.

- A transfer of $5,000 for each of the five years in matching funds for the California Airport Assistance Program (CAAP) is listed as inflow when it actually is outflow, Zagotta found.

Zagotta also voiced objections to projected cumulative cash flow deficits which (when adjustments are made for errors in the agricultural profits and CAAP funds) are listed for fiscal year 1976-77 as $66,100 and 1977-78 as $36,700.

"I don't think these numbers can be permitted to go negative," asserted Zagotta. He noted the airport in all probability would have to go to the city's General Fund to make up the deficits — a request sure to be turned down by the city council.

The deficits for the two years are caused by the acquisition of land to the east (130 acres, estimated by Costas at $849,200) and west (103 acres, $266,900).

Zagotta also said the deficits would violate the only ground rule of the airport — that the enterprise support itself.

On this objection, Zagotta and the other committee members parted company and Chairman Bill Bennett explained it all was a matter of management — a point he repeated throughout the session.

"We're not establishing a budget in which to work," Bennett said when he began the meeting. "It boils down to a situation of if you have the demand and the money, go ahead. It's up to the committee and the final decision is with the city council."

Lee noted the consultant made assumptions all the way along the line and it was possible the city should support the airport at certain times if Costas' figures were correct.

"I don't look for that to happen at all," he quickly added. Bennett and committeeman Steve Patenaude indicated their agreement with Lee on this point and Kerekes said he would support the deficit if the airport stood to eventually gain from the venture.

"We're looking at potentially large expenses and these are minor deficits in the large scale," he said. He added he thought the council would consider supporting the airport for the acquisitions.

The fifth committee member, Darryl Mainlander, lined up with Kerekes.

"The figures are not that great. I expected a much higher imbalance," he said.

ERRORS DETAILED

After Zagotta, working with Costas, adjusted the profit figures for the use of agricultural land (taking into account the expenses to cultivate the harvests and adding the costs of additional cultivation for the additional land) the $8,600 figure for fiscal year 1975-76 became $5,700;

$28,200 for 1976-77 was reduced to $19,600; $44,500 for 1977-78 became $37,200; $46,100 anticipated for 1978-79 was reduced to $34,800; and $48,000 projected for 1979-80 came down to $37,000.

Those new figures, coupled with the error in transfer of CAAP funds, changed the projected cumulative cash flow total for 1975-76 from $41,700 to $39,000; 1976-77, from a $55,800 deficit to a $66,100 deficit; 1977-78, from a $21,000 deficit to a $36,700 deficit; 1978-79, from $70,400 to $46,200, and 1979-80, from $46,400 to $15,200, Zagotta calculated.

The annual Community Christmas Bazaar in Livermore netted $10,500 for the 36 non-profit service organization which participated in the event sponsored by the LARPD and the Livermore Senior Citizens Club, it was reported.

"Everything went very smoothly, and all the clubs involved cooperated beautifully," commented Connie Gross of the LARPD who said that the 1975 tally represented a sizeable jump over the $8,000 earned at last year's bazaar.

Each participating organization will use its share of the proceeds for community service projects of its choosing, such as student scholarships, tutoring services, medical research foundations, educational programs and assistance to the aging, mentally retarded or handicapped.

The 1976 Community Christmas Bazaar has already been set for Dec. 12 and 13 at the Livermore Recreation Center. Applications will be accepted from organizations interested in participating in the event next year as vacancies become available. Requests should be sent to the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District Office, 71 Trevarno Rd., Livermore, Calif. 94550.

Vrrooom on its way out

Mike Zampa

Ric Lum strode into the office, long black hair dancing behind his neck. A red, white and blue crash helmet was cradled in the fold of his left arm, and his face settled into grimness as he summoned the determination to speak.

"I've read your newspaper," he began in measured tones, "and I don't think you have very good coverage of motorcycle racing. I read one article you had a few weeks ago, and the guy had all of his facts wrong."

Ric's well-rehearsed preamble was leading up to a request. He wanted to report on last weekend's Trans-AMA Motocross for The Times.

Brashness and honesty alone earned Ric the job, even if he was just a fledgling high school reporter. But the clincher was his solemn fealty to motorcycle racing. Real race fans are driven by unswerving devotion.

They are righteously indignant of the buffoons who delegate their sport second-class status in newspapers and on television. Slams at motor sports are personal affronts to them.

The loss of a racing event is like a family tragedy. Such was the case Sunday at Carnegie Park in Livermore. Unhappily, Ric Lum had signed on to write the Trans-AMA's obituary. Producer Bud Brillisour of Castro Valley announced that after five of the international events, he's had enough, calling it quits.

The Trans-AMA will have to locate another cycle park if it plans a Bay Area return in 1976. Brillisour left the door open, however, saying he might take back the event if a new home doesn't turn up.

Nevertheless his announcement should spark mourning among motocross worshippers. Above all they are devout. The daughter of one Times staff member spent her honeymoon Sunday at Carnegie Park, her head agog with dreams of love and the drone of Tony DiStefano's Suzuki engine.

There are probably hundreds of other stories about submission to the great gods of four-stroke. And today there is melancholy for their passing from the Livermore hills.

"We're tired of not making enough money for our efforts," said Brillisour in explaining his disenchantment with motocross. "It took $50,000 front money for the race, and that's nervous work for a one-day show. This is a high risk business."

According to Brillisour, it is also a diminishing one. Despite the hard core of bike riders, interest in motocross is declining. The figures aren't in yet, but this year's Carnegie Park crowd was well below last year's. "All I have to do is look at the box of unsold tickets left and I can tell," Brillisour says. His estimate is 8,500, when the hope was for 12,000.

Nevertheless, the producers will make money for the fifth consecutive year, as much as $15,000 if everything falls into place. That is still not enough, however, to keep Carnegie's landlord from dismissing the Trans-AMA.

"I wrote the American Motorcycle Association and told them we're not going to do it again," he says. "But I also said that if the AMA wants to stay in the Bay Area, but has problems finding another park, we might do it again. They're talking about Sears Point for next year, but nothing is settled. They would have to get a permit first, and that's not easy to do."

Brillisour, who operates Carnegie Park the rest of the year for recreational riders, says he wants to sell the property and get out of the motorcycle business. Day-to-day attendance is falling off, he says. The entire motorcycle industry is in a tailspin, at least the part involved with dirt racing. The sale of off-road motorcycles has fallen 30 to 40 per cent in the last year.

Brillisour has a Bay Area friend involved in the manufacture of sprockets for motorcycles. By November of last year, he had done $900,000 worth of business. This year the figure has dwindled to $500,000.

The strained economy and the cycle slump were contributing factors in the Trans-AMA demise at Carnegie. Brillisour also blames it on a lack of publicity buildup. There's no way to present the fan with a weekly breakdown of statistics as major spectator sports do. There's nothing to play upon in the press for weeks leading up to the race. "That kind of stuff is built in to football," Brillisour says, "and we've got to build it up in motocross. But it takes so long."

For five years, Bud's promotion wing, R.A.C.E. Productions of San Leandro, gathered the motocross riders and bucked the overwhelming wave of problems inherent in a major, international sports event. One year weather made a shambles of the Trans-AMA, another time it was an outfit that took $2,000 for parking cars and wound up berthing them in Byron.

Those are the kinds of things you expect, but hope against, in undertaking the project.

"But it's a real disappointment when you figure all the money that got tied up, and how much of yourself gets put into the thing," Brillisour says. "Now I'd just like to get into something more productive."

Brillisour, a former electrical contractor, is involved now with a company that outfits vehicles for handicapped passengers and drivers.

It's not as glamorous as playing host to international racing heroes. But it's also less of a gamble. After five years of motocross, Brillisour will settle for that.

Pinole coach fears Granada

Despite the fact his team is rated first in the East Bay Area and probably the entire North Coast Section, Pinole Valley head football coach Jerry Deuker expects a tough battle from Granada in the 4-A title game at Diablo Valley College at 8 p.m. tonight.

"We respect them," he said. "They have a lot more quickness than Clayton Valley (who the Spartans beat 10-7 last week) and they run the option really well."

Pinole Valley has not faced a team with Granada's style of option yet this season and Deuker admits this may be a problem.

"We faced Berkeley in the mud so we couldn't really tell how effective their option was. Besides, Berkeley just runs a straight wishbone."

Deuker is particularly impressed with the Granada backfield, in particular running backs Steve Jaeger and Vance Rushing. "Both of these players are really quick," he said. "Rushing, in particular has excellent speed. Their over-all quickness is their main asset."

However, Deuker stresses his own squad is also a quick, well-balanced club. "Our strength is our quickness," he says. "We are as quick as any team we have faced all season."

The sparkplug of the Pinole backfield is tailback Terry

Zahner, a 5-foot-10, 175 pound power runner who rushed for over 1,000 yards this season. Other members of the Spartan backfield include flanker Ray Booth, fullback Jerry DeBaca and quarterback Mark Dent. All are seniors except for Dent, who is a junior.

Defensively, the Spartans are paced by huge tackle Jeffery Taylor, a 6-foot-3, 230 pounder who has exceptional quickness.

Other top members of the Spartan defense are linebacker Ken Bushnell, defensive back Mike Bradshaw and tackle Mike Smullens.

"Smullens is only 6-foot-1, 185 pounds," said Deuker.

"However, He is extremely quick. He played fullback last season before switching to tackle."

The Spartans are 11-0 this season and breezed to the Alameda County Athletic League Big Six crown. Did Deuker feel his team would do this well at the beginning of the season? "I felt we would be a contender for the league title," he said. "We had a lot of returnees from last year's team and we were in the title chase until the last week then."

Deuker favors the new playoff system and feels it will only be a matter of time until the section is involved in Northern California or state playoffs.

"I'm in favor of the state playoff," he said. "However, the regular season will have to be shortened for it. A 10-game regular season plus three or four playoff games would be too long for the kids."

Regardless of how tonight's game turns out, Deuker feels the 4-A winner would be competitive with any other team in the state. "I feel our top teams would do as well as any team in the Southern or Sac-Joaquin sections," he said. "To go through the type of schedule this section has proves the teams at the top are good."

Starting Lineups

Nevada booters offensive-minded

Stewart's Electric of Las Vegas is one of the favorite groups in the Under-10 age group A Division in the Holiday Soccer Classic this weekend in Pleasanton.

The Electric squad has scored 40 goals this season while giving up just seven. 10 members of the team have been together for four seasons. Keith Hodges is the leading offensive player with 10 goals and seven assists in 13 games.

The Apaches of Fresno enter the classic with an unbeaten record of nine wins and no ties. They have scored 42 goals this year. Some of the players have played for two years although the team has been together for three months.

The Apaches are currently tied for first place in their league.

Ajax of the Fremont City Soccer Club has won 14 games this season against seven losses. They have scored 76 goals while allowing just 31 for the opposition. John Doyle leads the club as captain and fullback. Troy Knott is the top goal scorer and is very fast. Other top players are Ken Castro, Mark Meyer and Mike Powell.

There are six boys on the team from last year's squad which won the Fremont under-10 title.

The Centaurs enter a competition with three wins and two losses against one tie. They have scored 18 times and allowed 12. The team has basically been together for just one season. Chuck Ogren, Fred Biletnikoff and Paul Romero are sparkplugs of the team. They feature tough, aggressive play and a team attitude.

Ballistic United of Pleasanton has won 18 games and lost three times this season. They have scored 121 goals and allowed just 30. Kevin Mayn leads the United effort with 36 goals and 16 assists. Steve Maciorski and Gary Daniels add strength and balance to the attack.

Ballistic is currently in first place in the Al Caffodio league.

Dublin United has won four times and lost twice this year. They have scored 22 goals and allowed 15. Rodney Scott and Looze lead the scoring. David Badger, Duff Harrold and Scott Blanton also star for the Dublin squad.

The team made the semi-finals of the State Cup last season as an eight-year-old team.

The Raiders from Livermore have won four times this season and lost twice. They have scored 20 goals against eight for the opposition. They are probably the strongest team Livermore has ever entered in the Turkey Bowl.

The Sunnyvale Sonics enter the competition with two wins and one loss. They have scored nine goals and allowed two. Most of the players have been playing together for two years. Scott Artrow and Scott Perry lead the Sonics. Rick Miles is an outstanding goal-

Flag football

The Livermore Area Recreation and Park District will sponsor a flag football session for boys and girls from grades three to six at Christensen School from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Saturday. Play clothes and tennis shoes should be worn.

Glads, CC fight for title

Chabot College has put together one of its finest football teams during the season they decide to scrap California's junior college playoff system. So while the Gladiators would have been likely state champions, they have no chance for the title.

Instead they'll play tomorrow for the Northern California crown, facing Contra Costa College at noon in San Pablo.

Chabot is the Golden Gate Conference champion. C.C.C. won the Camino Norte Conference crown.

"I would rather have the playoffs, because I think they were significant," Chabot coach Terry Cagaanan said this week.

But barring that, he has geared his team for the climax of a super season. Despite losing their first two quarterbacks to disabling injuries early in the year, the Gladiators have lost only once.

They have been rated among the state's top 10 teams most of the season. And they should be the favorite to whip Contra Costa Saturday.

"The kids are looking forward to this," Cagaanan said. "They're anxious to play it. But I think it will be an even match. When you get to this level, nobody is walking over anybody."

Chabot's coach fears a well-balanced Contra Costa attack that features a potential junior college All-American running back, Ray Strong of St. Mary's High School. The 5-11, 195 sophomore has gained 828 yards on 140 carries, but sat out two games with a knee injury. Strong watched from the sidelines as Contra Costa whipped Los Medanos, 34-17 the final week of the season, to capture the Camino Norte title. With him back after a two-week rest, Contra Costa will be dangerous.

"We didn't get to see Strong live," Cagaanan said; "but we've seen him on film, and he's a good player with good speed. Yes, I'd say he's a potential All-American."

Joining Strong in the backfield will be Ron Swanson, who is starting just his second game of the season. He filled in for Strong the last two games, but will be paired with Ray tomorrow. Swanson has carried 80 times for 519 yards.

Contra Costa's quarterback is Brad Qualls, who has completed 32-of-77 passes for 495 yards and four touchdowns. He's suffered only four interceptions.

"Contra Costa has such a well balanced attack that we'll have to stop everything they throw at us," Cagaanan said. "They run the triple option well, and their quarterback throws the play action pass off of that."

Contra Costa is 7-2 for the season, its only losses to Modesto and Santa Rosa.

The Gladiators have lost only to San Jose City College.

Cagaanan announced a starting lineup that will include running backs Curtis Bledsoe and Darryl Ashley, with Al Munday at wingback.

Chabot, LA battle

Chabot College meets an old rival for the California Junior College soccer championship when the Gladiators take on host East Los Angeles College at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Southland.

The Gladiators and East LA tied for the state crown last year and both hope to gain the championship this season. Chabot is coming off an impressive 4-2 victory over West Valley for the Northern California crown last weekend and are going into the finals on a hot streak.

Despite the impressive win over West Valley the Gladiators should have their hands full against an East LA squad that is top-rated in the state.

On top of this the Gladiators will be hurting at fullback. Regular Oscar Herrera is doubtful for the championship tilt and back-up Fred Azadan is hurting with an leg injury. However, the Gladiators should be strong defensively with All-American goaltender Steve Hector manning the nets. Hector has been outstanding lately and had one of his best games against West Valley.

Other top Glad players are wing Tim Wade, link Dave Anderson and fullback Eric Rudney.

Harding, Crane top winter bowling

Ed Harding and Tom Crane rolled the high scores in a week of winter league bowling at Granada Bowl.

Harding, a 168 average bowler, posted a 270 game to earn a Century Pin for bettering his average by 100 pins.

Crane posted a 657 series and a 228 high game. Crane also converted a 4-6-10 split.

Other top series for the week went to Ben Benson, 638; A.P. Dickerson, 618; Rita Hetrick, 525; Brenda Smith, 589; Pat Padilla, 596 and Marnie Gunter, 563. Angel Barsotti rolled a 553.

The others added to the West squad by Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf, player selection chairman, were offensive guard Joe Davis of Southern Cal, linebacker Bob Horn of Oregon State, defensive back Mario Clark of Oregon and center Ray Pinney of Washington.

FAR HILLS, N. J. (AP) — The U. S. Golf Assn. reports that locations for the next five U. S. Open championships have been set. The 1976 event will be held June 17-20 at the Atlanta Country Club.

The 1977 Open is set for Southern Hills in Tulsa, Okla., while in subsequent years the Open has been set for Cherry Hills in Denver, Inverness in Toledo, Ohio, and Baltusrol in Springfield, N. J.

Wallace leads tourney kegglers

Livermore's Lucy Wallace has taken over first place in singles competition after three weeks of the Livermore Valley Bowling Tournament.

Carrying a 163 average, Lucy exploded with a career high scratch series of 650 last weekend, and with a 112 handicap totalled 762 to surpass Fremont's Wes La Plante by 34 pins. Wallace's games were 242-203 and 235.

Mid State Bowl of Fresno took over the top spot in team competition rolling a 3201 combined score. Babe Zanovich was the top bowler.

Tonight's the night!

BART's night service is scheduled to begin on the 1st of January 1976. But, as in past years, holiday "night trains" will start running this evening to accommodate shoppers, theatergoers and sports fans.

Night trains will run at 20 minute intervals instead of the current 12 minute intervals, in order to efficiently serve the expected demand.

A two line "X" service will be used with passengers transferring from one line to the other at MacArthur or 12th Street Stations. (See map insert below.)

The transition from current service to the new holiday "night train" service will occur during the 6 to 8 pm. period.

Be sure to pick up a brochure describing holiday "night train" service for further details. It is available from BART station agents.

The table below shows the scheduled times of the last trains from each station, and a 'last train' schedule is prominently displayed in all BART stations. Make sure you are on the platform in plenty of time.

This special holiday service ends December 30. On December 31, BART will return to the current 6 am. to 8 pm. schedule in order to qualify for the federal funding which makes night service possible. However, on January 1, 1976, night service will commence on a permanent basis.

If you have any questions concerning the new night service or connecting buses, call the BART Phone Information Center. (6 am. 'til midnight.)

The great smog con of 1975

Are we really winning the "Battle for Pure Air" in this one valley? Or is it all a gigantic con that has been foisted on the people by those who have always preferred their own brand of scientific fantasy to political fact?

Consider for a moment just these recent items of interest:

Those "zero population projections" we hear so much about these days, and which would trim all of Alameda County's growth potential to something like 1520 family units, would at the same time give to Contra Costa and Santa Clara counties the lion's share of Bay Area growth potential.

That is only important to this valley if we recall that recent computer project undertaken by the Livermore Lawrence Laboratory, and whereby they simulated our little vale back to those rural days when we had no freeways and no growth, but found that we had the same air pollution then as experienced in 1975. The one constant factor was the inflow of smog from neighboring counties.

Consider also the plans by Central Contra Costa Sanitary District to undertake a $121 million expansion of that system, most of it at federal government approval and expense. That will expand Central San's treatment capacity from 30 million to 45 millions gallons per day. The growth in homes and regional commerce generated by that added sewerage capacity will fall largely onto the San Ramon Valley.

That makes the great battle over curbing such as the VCSO sewer system to six, or seven or even eight millions per day look strangely out of step.

If we are going to continue to import most of our air pollution from adjoining counties, and those counties are going to grow almost without restraint, then what kind of "pure air" is assured this valley by virtue of our own self-imposed limits? Regional planning? More like regional insanity.

Councilman Philcox

In the aftermath of that long and sometimes unfortunate venture into redevelopment, one figure maintained a persistent, positive and active role. Councilman Robert Philcox deserves the commendation of his constituents, regardless of our individual feelings on the redevelopment approach.

While it was being advanced as the city's official proposal, Councilman Philcox took an affirmative position — as he always has — for revitalization of this community's century-old core area.

When the redevelopment approach was under fire, Philcox was one elected servant with enough courage to debate those critics, even though that was not currently the most popular stance.

And when it became apparent that "the redevelopment issue was dividing our community," Philcox was among the first to see that the benefits of that program were being overshadowed by the divisiveness which would surely also result. But before he led the Monday night move to abolish that agency, Philcox first spent his Sunday "calling as many people as I could" to gain a broad feedback on the entire question.

That is responsible representation. In an 18-month undertaking where there can be no heroes, Councilman Philcox emerges as a public servant who is prepared to lead, but willing also to listen when the public has something to say.

Coastal plan completed

The California Coastal Commissions this week submitted their recommended Coastal Plan to Governor Edmund G. Brown and to the California Legislature.

"The future of the coast is in your hands," Commission Chairman M.B. Lane said in a letter of transmittal. Lane also noted in his letter that the Commissions, created by California voters through passage of Proposition 20 in 1972, had completed their plan on time and were, under present law, scheduled to go out of existence at the end of 1976.

Lane and the plan, which has evolved through countless hours of public hearings and review on a scale unmatched in California, is designed to achieve two principal objectives:

1. Protect the California coast as a great natural resource for the benefit of present and future generations.

2. Use the coast to meet human needs in a manner that protects the irreplaceable resources of coastal lands and waters.

In planning for the diverse 1,100 miles that is the California coast, the final Coastal Plan actively promotes productive agriculture, expansion of commercial fishing activity and research, acquisition of additional parklands, restoration of coastal environments, and continued development of existing ports and marinas.

Primary responsibility for carrying out the Coastal Plan would be given to local governments, which would be required to bring their local plans into conformity with the policies of the Coastal plan. After this has been completed, no later than four years, the Regional Commissions would go out of existence.

"... We strongly emphasize the need for a continuing California coastal agency to make the sometimes difficult decisions necessary to insure that the policies of the Plan are put into effect over the next several years," Lane said, emphasizing the Plan's recommendation that such a State agency would be needed to keep the Plan up to date as well as to assist the local governments in their implementation.

The Plan itself estimates that the costs for carrying out its policies would be in acquiring certain coastal parcels, in continuing the present permit and appeals administration, in keeping the Plan up to date, and assisting the local governments in Plan implementation.

Copies of the Coastal Plan may be purchased for $4.50 from Documents and Publications Branch, P.O. Box 20191, Sacramento, 95820.

Hindsight/Foresight

Other side of hill

The Christmas season is officially here! And beside the increased hustle and bustle of Yule events and gift purchases, something new is being added this year.

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District is commencing late night train service as of tonight with BART-AC Transit to follow on Dec. 8 with late night (weekdays only) feeder bus service between the valley and Hayward.

With the inception of the latter, valley residents will be able to get to San Francisco or East Bay metropolitan points for shopping, sports or theatrical events and return by public transportation.

I must qualify this, though. The last feeder bus will leave Hayward BART at 11:08 p.m., which means that the person bound for a visit to San Francisco would have to be on a BART train to Hayward by no later than 10:15 p.m. to allow enough time to make the feeder bus connection.

Those bound to the Oakland Coliseum Arena for a Warriors or Golden Seals game would certainly be able to see the entire game and travel by BART rail to Hayward in plenty of time to catch the final "U" to Dublin, Pleasanton and Livermore.

The last bus (weekdays only) from the valley leaves Livermore at 10:12 p.m. (starting Dec. 8), Pleasanton 10:24 (Stanley and Santa Rita) and Dublin at approximately 10:40 p.m.

Thus, persons residing on the "other side of the hill" will be able to attend meetings, shop, visit and/or take in cultural events and still ride rapid public transit home to Hayward, East Bay metropolitan points and San Francisco.

The point we make with this latter notation is that business and community leaders should not be blind to the fact that people can be drawn out here if the shopping and cultural offerings are made known and prove attractive.

The traffic doesn't necessarily have to be all one way — westbound in the morning to work and westbound in the afternoon and evening for shopping and cultural-sports events.

Albeit we cannot possibly compete with the cultural-sports offerings of the Oakland Coliseum or San Francisco, there is no reason for the valley to automatically take a back seat when it comes to shopping.

Between Pleasanton, Dublin and Livermore, the valley has plenty of those coveted, little-known specialty stores. All they need is to be known by a few more shoppers on "the other side of the hill."

I would even suggest that the chamber of commerce leaders in Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin join with merchants to (jointly) make known their products and hours before we get too deep into the Christmas season. And also to include a few of the community events that non-valley residents might want to attend — such as the Pleasanton Winter Wonderland Parade.

With a little aggressiveness and forethought we can make the extended BART rail service (starting today) and the feeder bus service (starting Dec. 8) work for us.

The all-trains-and-buses-lead-to-the-metropolitan-hub thinking can become dangerously negative to the business and social community if we let it.

For every bus that leaves this valley, there's one coming back.

And there are two sides to every hill.

Letters to the Times

Protecting candidates

Editor, The Times:

With the forthcoming elections just around the corner and the candidates mounting their soapboxes, one wonders the taxpayers' cost in terms of money and future...

We already have inflation, unemployment and frustration... do we really need the added expense of paying for the candidates' security guards? If the petitioner for public office feels the need to press the palm of a potential voter must the voter's other hand dig down in a pocket to pay for the "honor"? The "pressing of the palms" gives rise to the thought, "Does it really mean anything?" ... are the callouses, testifying to hard work, in the hands of a farmer or laborer felt? ... or the tremulous hand of the little old lady who ekes out a living with a welfare check? To shake hands with no meaning seems a superficial gesture, to have to pay for it, — outrageous. To say, "Let the politicians pay for their own security guards," only brings up another question: "Who pays the politician's salary?"

John Birch Society

Editor, The Times:

Americans don't want to live under a totalitarian government. If that issue were on the ballot, they'd vote NO. That, of course is why the would-be totalitarianists never consider putting it on the ballot. Instead, they maneuver the American people into advocating or accepting steps toward total government power (zero individual freedom) as supposed solutions to problems created by the insiders themselves.

History clearly shows the wisdom of our legal tradition of presumption of innocence.

The problem is not one of finding guilty persons guilty in court. The problem is that, once they are found guilty, the lenient sentences and our absurd parole system fail to punish the offenders or protect the citizenry from them. The solution is not to make it more difficult for an innocent person to defend himself against false charges, but to impose sentences which will ensure that the public is protected from the repeat offenders...

What one needs to do is first, understand the fundamentals involved in the present struggle between the forces for freedom and for slavery; second, understand the long-range consequences of the solutions proposed, third, decide where one wishes to place himself in the struggle; and finally, get active in the fight. He who lets someone else fight for his freedom has only himself to blame if that freedom is lost.

I would like to offer the John Birch Society as a place where you can take any or all of the above-mentioned steps. If you are interested... contact us at P.O. Box 462, Livermore 94550.

Livermore seniors

Editor, The Times:

The Livermore Area Recreation and Park District, in conjunction with the Livermore Senior Citizens Club, wishes to express thanks for the fine publicity coverage given to the recent Community Christmas Bazaar.

Through your interest in this effort, the 36 participating groups were able to report sales which will total close to $10,000 when final figures are completed — money which will go to many worthy projects which each organization supports. The success of the no private profit sale is a splendid example of community cooperation and goodwill. Our thanks to everyone taking part.

Round the town

There was a time when the only question was the dimension of the mixing bowl to be used.

"Johnnie's got to get his ears lowered," my smart-aleck brother would announce. "What size mixing bowl you want, Mom?"

Mother was the family barber. At least for her four boys. The girls would tolerate no such foolishness.

"You aren't cutting MY hair," Margerie would declare. Then she and sister Kay would sneak off into whatever privacy was available to them, and clip each other. Girls are funny that way.

The mixing bowl treatment gave all us boys a certain uniformity, that is true. Like lambs sheared in the same lot. Mother's trademark was on each of us. The secret was to avoid getting shorn all on the same day.

"We look like a bunch of ninnies," Older Brother would declare. No ninnie, he. And no hair cut either, not that day. Let it grow another inch. Then try and catch Mom in a less crowded moment, to get some special scissoring.

"Couldn't you just sort of follow the neckline a little, Mom? That mixing-bowl makes me look squared off, sort of. The kids can always tell."

A generation or so later, that same problem persists.

"You want it tapered in back, or squared off?" the barber asks. I glance nervously to see if there's a mixing bowl at hand. No, but there is a frightening variety of clippers. One for every style, I am assured.

"Just a regular hair cut," I reply. I am not up on these new styles. My barber is not satisfied.

"I can square it off at the hair line, or I can taper it more, close to the neck," he explains. They have a terrible time with those over 35. Like teaching new math to Old Dad.

We agree on the taper. A hold-over from the mixing bowl trauma, I tell myself. But he is still not ready to clip.

"Leave the side burns full?" he asks. No, defoliate the overgrowth, is the order.

"Want to take something off the top?" he demands. He is a persistent fellow. I am beginning to think he is paid by the hour, rather than the hair. Of which I have precious little, as Barber and I are fully aware. The Top varies from little to none. Taking anything at all is likely to leave me naked as a Jay Bird, or a mixing bowl.

"Johnnie keeps squirming around," Older Brother would complain. "Make Johnnie sit still, Mom." I had been handed over to a trainee. The unkindest cut of all. Held captive in a mixing bowl, in the hands of Older Brother.

"Do you have it square in the back?" Mother would ask. It is important to keep the mixing bowl centered, or else the whole blessed cut comes out like a stricken Frigate. Drowning in a sea of hair.

There was more of it, then. Long and billowy. Very blond. Used to fall in my eyes at key moments of a hockey game. No such problem now. No more hockey games, either.

"Sure is beautiful weather for this time of year," Barber announces. It is considered important these days to make small talk. Establish a relationship betwixt Barber and Customer. I imagine what that "beautiful weather" line would do for Barber if he had a farmer in the chair. Somebody with the winter crop down, and desperate for a drop of moisture.

In the valley's agricultural days, barbers knew their customers. A different line for each. The "nice warm November" pitch was good for the sugar beet grower, into the last of his harvest. But very bad for the cattle rancher. "A very timely rain" was a sure way to woo the wheat farmer, but might earn you a nasty look from the tomato grower, who sees harvest profits erased by one stupid autumn cloudburst.

As a reporter, I had to learn all these things. Barbers too. We were all dependent on the farmer, and his profit. One untimely downpour could send us all down the financial gutter.

Barbers don't worry about those things, anymore. "Never talk politics, religion or sex," is the Barbers' Code. Some of 'em have a tough time abiding by that rule.

"Johnnie's sniffing again, Mom. Make Johnnie stop sniffing," Older Brother was a complainer. How in the world do you "make Johnnie stop sniffing?" It is like shutting off Niagara, closing down the Saskatchewan River. The more he complained, the more I had to sniffle. Power of suggestion.

"You want to leave it dry, or wet?" Barbers are like all good salesmen. Sell the basic job at sticker price, then load the customer with extras. That's where the real profit is. Barber knows that. The juice is two bits more. Razor cut 50 cents. It's all posted, behind the calendar.

He whirled me around for a mirror inspection. "Okeh?" he asks. Never knew a customer to look at the handsome reflection in that mirror and disagree.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Bill Hayden never entered my life. He just sort of crept in through the side door. A lad who looked just a little out of place with the gang in the Patio Lounge of the Granada Bowl but who held the juice of the hop and wheat squeezings the way a gentleman should and could cope with the varied topics of conversation which crop up in a juniper juice dispensary.

Maybe it is strange, or perhaps a normal male reaction, but while I can remember the date, day and place I met any woman who was important at all in my life, I cannot recall exactly when I met any man.

Name any of them, and there have been a few over 58 years, and I'll tell you the date, approximate hour of the day and circumstances under which I met them all starting with Barbara way back in 1932.

The exception is Winifred Schmitz. I just can't seem to remember exactly when I met Winnie, nor can I remember the name of the girl I won with a straight flush back in 1939, but that's another story.

With men the exception is probably Johnny Madden and that only because he looked so huge and lonely in that second floor office off Oakport Street the first time

I ever saw him.

All of the rest of the ladies I remember and the men came and went like shadows I never really saw.

With Bill I will remember his parting if only because he did not stop by to say goodbye. Last Wednesday came and went and we were all set to send him off to Hollywood in style, but the temporary advertising salesman for the Pleasanton Times who stayed around longer than the Man Who Came To Dinner never showed up.

Pat Kennedy went out and bought him a nightshirt and I had a bottle of well aged grape juice stowed away for the occasion but Bill just did not arrive.

For that reason, if none other, I will remember his leaving. A man limited to a couple of ounces of wheat squeezings a day does not often have an excuse to lift an extra glass while launching a friend on a new career.

You treated us badly, Hayden, with your absence. Though his departure is notable by his failing to say goodbye, I cannot remember for the life of me when, exactly, I met Bill.

I would surmise it was sometime late in 1967 when I was first exploring the dark nooks, crannies and refreshment stands in the Livermore Valley.

More than likely it was at the Granada Bowl, mostly because I cannot, for many years, ever remember seeing him anywhere else.

That does not mean, as you may suppose, that Bill and I spent all of our time at the Patio Lounge. Far from it. But that was, for many years, our only meeting ground.

Bill preceded me here, but we both arrived in the valley about the same way.

He was taking a brief rest from show business and only took the job at the Times on a temporary basis.

That was 17 years ago.

I arrived a few years later at the request of Pete Winslow, who had informed a reluctant newsman he could procure a better reporter in 30 minutes.

About thirty minutes later he received a letter from his unhappy employee which stated his case briefly.

"You said you could get a better man than me in 30 minutes. Get one."

Maybe 25 minutes later I had finished my morning round at the Hayward Golf Course and strolled into Fremont's International Kitchen searching for companionship while relieving my hunger and thirst.

"Pete Winslow wants you to call him," Fen said.

I called Pete and here I am, for better or for worse, a refugee from a 19 hour a day job as editor of a chain of newspapers in that land that God forgot south of Insanity Junction.

Not a very auspicious start for either Bill or me, I suppose, but if we got off the blocks slowly, we did have lasting power.

Years passed before we played on the same team, if you will forgive the phrase from old Madison Avenue, and when we did it was I, not Bill, who had defected.

We had, for once or twice a week, exchanged pleasantries in the dim light of the Patio Lounge, had known each other's work, but not much of each other and would probably to this day not know whether we should refer to ourselves as acquaintances or friends.

Whatever the case, I have enjoyed what I have known of him, have benefitted by his sideline efforts in Ad Libs and Setting the Scene and will miss him.

And you can bet your sweet Post Toasties I am not going to let him get away without saying goodbye and good luck.

Not even if I have to write 35 inches of nonsense to get there.

Hasta la Vista, Bill. Vaya con dios.

 If you apply yourself today, you have the ability to focus your talents toward a profitable end. Concentrate on things that bring reward.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 You have a commanding air about you today. It will draw the respect of others. They'll go along with you and welcome even the little prods you give.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 Complex tasks won't faze you today, nor will knotty problems. You field everything — and make it look easy.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 You're equipped for problems that challenge the brain, not brawn, today. Others will find you're tops in utilizing the old gray matter.

 This could be a very profitable day if you are dealing with those you can trust and with whom you have realized a profit in the past.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 Although you may get the idea that people aren't listening to your ideas, they are. They will give you credit when your leads bear fruit.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
 For best results, keep your commercial dealings to yourself today. Don't let others know your financial position or what you're aiming for.

Your Birthday
 Nov. 28, 1975

You will make some friends this coming year who will prove very valuable in developing your image. Two in particular will be the type of pals who stick by through thick and thin.

"Nothing wrong with him, you say! Would you put that in writing for his teacher and the neighbors?"

The Chamber 'loves parades'

PLEASANTON — With the assurance that "we love parades," chamber president Ben Fernandez on Tuesday pledged his board of directors' support for both a renewal of the Fair Parade, and the traditional Christmas Parade that will also flow through the city's business hub.

The fate of the Fair Parade is still in doubt, with the board of directors for the Alameda County Fair Association wondering "if anyone really wants this thing." Reluctance by both the Pleasanton chamber and the city council to continue their annual subsidy for that July caravan prompted the Fair board to earlier announce cancellation of the parade as an opening day feature for the exposition.

Concern was later voiced to have a Fair Parade "at least for the nation's bicentennial celebration." The Fair Board is expected to make that decision next week, but first of all will be given "the joint decision of the chamber and the Pleasanton Jaycees" on their possible support for any future parades.

The annual downtown salute to Santa Claus is scheduled for Saturday morning, Dec. 6, with two elementary school bands scheduled to take part. That parade takes off from the Bank of America parking lot at 11 a.m., winding up at the Amador High School parking lot.

Pleasanton rejects Morrison request

PLEASANTON — The city council unanimously rejected Morrison Homes' request for approval of a tract map for 41 homes in the Woodthrush Park area Monday night.

At issue was whether or not the city could provide sewage treatment capacity for the homes.

Morrison Homes attorney Howard Bell said the courts have ruled Morrison is entitled to capacity in the sewage treatment plant. Although no capacity is available now, Morrison would promise to not bring any action against the city over lack of connections for at least a one year period.

"My client hopes to avoid a court confrontation with the city over this issue," said Bell. Mayor Ed Kinney later said the public could read what it wanted between the lines of Bell's statement. The apparent implication is that Morrison will sue the city over the council's refusal to grant the zoning.

City Attorney Ken Scheidig said the council was within its rights to refuse approval for the subdivision map. A city has police powers through subdivision map approvals and it is consistent with the cease and desist order on building permits issued by the Bay Regional Water Quality Control District.

Scheidig noted that Morrison Homes already has spoken up for all of the single family residential sewer connections which a judge awarded the firm. Still remaining are 384 multiple residence connections, but the Woodthrush development doesn't meet those criteria.

Park group to make Blackhawk decision

DANVILLE — The local parks group will decide Tuesday whether to accept a small park site from the Blackhawk Development Company.

The Citizens Advisory Committee for County Service Area R - 7 will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Education Center, 699 Old Orchard Road, Danville.

The Blackhawk company is offering to the committee a 3.7 acre rest-stop park at the intersection of Mt. Diablo Scenic Boulevard and Blackhawk Road outside of Diablo. Owen Schwaderer, Blackhawk president, envisions the park as a rest area for people on foot, horseback and bicycles. He suggests it have water and minimal picnic facilities and connect to a trail system planned for the future.

Blackhawk has offered to pipe water to the park site and help with its development.

The park is part of Blackhawk's phase one plans. Other agenda items include a report on the Front Street mini park in Danville and committee reports.

PLEASANTON — The Kinderkirk Nursery on Mirador Drive has an opening for a 4-year old girl student and is also accepting names for a waiting list.

The opening is immediate and families interested should contact Carol Vorpahl, registrar, at 846-8868.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO FILE A NEGATIVE DECLARATION

PROJECT DESIGNATION: GP 75-5
November 28, 1975
In accordance with the provisions set forth in Resolution No. 74-133 and as amended in Resolution No. 75-22 (Environmental Impact Guidelines and Procedures), general plan amendment GP 75-5 has been determined to require a negative declaration.

The project consists of changing the general plan designation for two lots located on the northeast corner of Valley Avenue and Hopyard Road from High Density Residential to Retail Business and Offices. The two parcels comprise approximately two-thirds of an acre.

The site is currently occupied by the drive-in facility of the First National Bank of Pleasanton and a vacant lot. The adjoining property is planned for commercial use, and the property across Valley Avenue is currently a shopping center. In this location, the requested general plan designation is much more desirable than the existing high density residential designation for residential use on this site would be very undesirable. It is the finding of the Director of Housing and Community Development that this general plan amendment would not create, to a significant degree, any of the effects enumerated in the Environmental Impact Guidelines and Procedures which indicate that the environment may be harmed.

For more information on this case, contact the Department of Housing and Community Development, 200 Bernal Avenue, Pleasanton, California 94566, telephone 846-3202.

PROJECT DESIGNATION: Z 75-154
November 28, 1975
In accordance with the provisions set forth in Resolution No. 74-133 and as amended in Resolution No. 75-22 (Environmental Impact Guidelines and Procedures), zoning application Z 75-154 has been determined to require a negative declaration.

The project consists of the construction and use of an addition to the existing structure housing the Utility Vault Company at 800 Valley Avenue. The 11,200 square foot addition would match the existing structure with regard to height and appearance. The project would be an expansion of the existing use. The expanded structure, although large, sits on about 15 acres of land. The use is appropriate for the general industrial land, so, too, would be the expanded use. The proposed addition would not encroach upon any surrounding uses. It is the finding of the Director of Housing and Community Development that this construction and use would not create, to a significant degree, any of the effects enumerated in the Environmental Impact Guidelines and Procedures which indicate that the environment may be harmed.

For more information on this case, contact the Department of Housing and Community Development, 200 Bernal Avenue, Pleasanton, California, 94566, telephone 846-3202. The expanded structure, although large, sits on about 15 acres of land. The use is appropriate for the general industrial land, so, too, would be the expanded use. The proposed addition would not encroach upon any surrounding uses. It is the finding of the Director of Housing and Community Development that this construction and use would not create, to a significant degree, any of the effects enumerated in the Environmental Impact Guidelines and Procedures which indicate that the environment may be harmed.

For more information on this case, contact the Department of Housing and Community Development, 200 Bernal Avenue, Pleasanton, California, 94566, telephone 846-3202. Unless any written appeals of this case are received by this department within ten (10) days of the above date or publication of this notice in the Pleasanton Times, whichever is later, this decision will become effective.

CITY OF PLEASANTON
NOTICE OF INTENT TO FILE A NEGATIVE DECLARATION

PROJECT DESIGNATION: RZ 75-5
November 28, 1975
In accordance with the provisions set forth in Resolution No. 74-133 and as amended in Resolution No. 75-22 (Environmental Impact Guidelines and Procedures), rezoning application RZ 75-5 has been determined to require a negative declaration.

The project consists of rezoning an approximately 5.2 acre site located on the northeast corner of Valley Avenue and Hopyard Road from the A (Agriculture) District to C-C (Central Commercial) District (the western two-thirds) and to P (Public and Institutions) District (the eastern one-third).

The use of this site for commercial purposes would be consistent with its location fronting two major streets and across the street from an existing shopping center. The P District would serve as a buffer between the commercial use and existing residences on the eastern boundary of the property. Although much of this land is located in a Flood Hazard Zone, changing the zoning classification should have no environmental effects as this factor would be evaluated in any subsequent development proposal. It is the finding of the Director of Housing and Community Development that this project would not create, to a significant degree, any of the environmental effects enumerated in the Environmental Impact Guidelines and Procedures which indicate that the environment may be harmed.

For more information on this case, contact the Department of Housing and Community Development, 200 Bernal Avenue, Pleasanton, California 94566, telephone 846-3202.

Unless any written appeals of this case are received by this department within ten (10) days of the above date or publication of this notice in the Pleasanton Times, whichever is later, this decision will become effective.

PLANNING COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF PLEASANTON

NOTICE OF INTENT TO FILE A NEGATIVE DECLARATION

PROJECT DESIGNATION: Z 75-154
November 28, 1975
In accordance with the provisions set forth in Resolution No. 74-133 and as amended in Resolution No. 75-22 (Environmental Impact Guidelines and Procedures), zoning application Z 75-154 has been determined to require a negative declaration.

The project consists of the construction and use of an addition to the existing structure housing the Utility Vault Company at 800 Valley Avenue. The 11,200 square foot addition would match the existing structure with regard to height and appearance. The project would be an expansion of the existing use. The expanded structure, although large, sits on about 15 acres of land. The use is appropriate for the general industrial land, so, too, would be the expanded use. The proposed addition would not encroach upon any surrounding uses. It is the finding of the Director of Housing and Community Development that this construction and use would not create, to a significant degree, any of the effects enumerated in the Environmental Impact Guidelines and Procedures which indicate that the environment may be harmed.

'Spending to see how we'll spend'

Murphy raps Fraley on planning expenses

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — "It looks to me like we're spending this money to see how we'll spend future money," valley supervisorial representative John Murphy charged the county planning department Tuesday.

Addressing his remarks to planning director William Fraley, Murphy said it seems as though the county is spending a disproportionate part of some $369,000 in first year funding towards planning.

Fifty-three percent is going toward planning this year, Fraley conceded, but that figure will slip to 25 percent in 1976-77 and 15 percent in 1977-78.

The Housing and Community Development Act passed in 1974 was written for urban city problems, not urban county troubles, he said. It combined the old federal Model Cities and Redevelopment programs into one massive package.

An additional $773,700 will be available for the unincorporated areas of Alameda County during the second year, and $1.5 million in the third year.

His department spent the greater hunk of the money in the first year for "planning and management" to avoid "hurried changes" in the next two years of funding.

First year funding will be used to finance low interest owner occupied home improvement loans in targeted "pilot areas."

All the pilot areas are in Hayward, he said.

Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch spokeswoman Sally Bystroff, however, told supervisors she was assured by Fraley's department that her program "fit the guidelines perfectly."

The ranch on the site of the old Del Valle Sanitarium takes care of kids who've left troubled homes.

Fraley said the "pilot areas" were fixed by the federal department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

"It's got nothing to do with the desirability, respect or regard for those programs out there. HUD's guidelines specify the money must be used to uplift low and moderate income housing and the aged and handicapped."

HUD's first explanations were broad, he said, but in later talks with the department the criteria were set.

Murphy, however, wasn't satisfied. "Why didn't you advise these people at the hearings?" he asked.

According to Fraley those hearings — including the one held in Dublin's Shannon Community Center — were not applications for the revenue, but the county soliciting ideas.

Bystroff insisted, however, that she was "assured just a month ago that we qualified."

Fraley first said she may have qualified, but simply was not high enough on the priority list. He said later, however, that the youth ranch did not qualify.

If she could have shown that the kids using the ranch came from the target areas, he said. Other funds, namely revenue sharing, may be available for her project.

Bystroff spoke to both the Pleasanton and Livermore City Councils the night before.

She asked for letters of support from the towns to be presented to the supervisors, plus $1,500 per month from each to support two youths.

Neither city would commit itself to the monthly stipend, but Livermore agreed to write the letter of support.

The supervisors passed the appropriation for Fraley's expenditure plan on a four to one vote Supervisor Murphy abstained.

Senior hot lunch bus is approved

PLEASANTON — Dwight Sterling, director of the Southern Alameda County Transportation project, has approved use of a 15-seat passenger bus to transport senior citizens on Tuesdays and Fridays to the hot lunch program at Pleasanton Gardens.

Senior citizens had met with members of the transportation project last Friday to discuss obtaining transportation to the program.

A two-month trial use of the bus was approved by project director Sterling, starting Dec. 1.

"We want to see how things work out, and if the need is there we may expand the transportation to each week-day," said Sterling.

The bus is used mainly by the Pleasanton Health Care Center, Hotline, and the Valley Health Care Center. It has been funded through county mental health revenue sharing funds.

"We examined the cost feasibility of using the bus for the seniors, too. We also considered such things as location and the number of people we could serve," said Sterling. He said the people who will use the bus on Tuesdays and Fridays are people who already attend the hot lunch regularly. They have had difficulty in obtaining transportation and often must rely on outreach workers for a ride.

"Before this year our contract limited us to direct health needs. Now we can use the bus to service all types of health needs, including programs like the senior nutrition project," Sterling said.
